MARY SPICER

"I have been drawing pictures for a very long time. I really like to draw. My work has been exhibited on refrigerators in Eastern Ontario and the Pontiac, and hangs in the homes of relatives all over Ottawa. It's even hanging in the homes of people I've never met."

Born in Ottawa in 1961, Mary is a sixth generation resident of the Ottawa Valley, and has spent a lifetime being influenced by and in love with the area's history and geography. She spends as much time in the country or on the water as possible, with her husband, two teen-aged daughters, and a very happy Lab Retriever (the cat looks after herself.) When the family makes time, Mary participates in private and group shows and local festivals.

While the pencil has always been Mary's weapon of choice, the past few years have seen her using a camera again, and then combining photographic work with pencil to tell a story. More recently, a box of her grandmother Edith's paper dolls led to a project lovingly called "Edith Died Laughing" (she did.) Somewhat of a compulsion, it's a playful mixed media story-telling outlet for someone who prefers not to take life so seriously all the time.

More work in the project will be shown during Chinatown Remixed (opening May 12.) Mary's work will be at Double Happiness, 777A Somerset Street West until June 12.
